Industry Outlook:

- We continue to navigate our business through the current economic and the ongoing geopolitical conflicts across regions which have created an increased uncertainty in the global economy.
- While some economies are still fighting inflationary pressures along with high inventory levels, the US is witnessing offshoots of growth, propelled by a resurgence in personal consumption expenditures
- Another silver lining is the wage growth catching up to inflation in the EU region, indicating a potential revival of consumer purchasing power and a boost to domestic demand.
